WHO WE ARE

Build the future with FDU ASCE Student Chapter

FDU's ASCE Student Chapter connects civil engineering and engineering technology students with industry, professional development, and hands-on engineering experiences. Through ASCE competitions and industry partnerships, students strengthen their technical, leadership, and teamwork skills.

For the 2027 ASCE Metropolitan Student Symposium, co-hosted by Fairleigh Dickinson University and Columbia University, sponsorship will help provide the resources necessary to create a successful competition and professional experience for participating students. Corporate partners will also have an opportunity to increase their visibility, engage directly with future engineers, and strengthen connections with the regional engineering community.
