Mead Paper Competition

The ASCE Student Symposium Paper Competition emphasizes the importance of being able to write and present a paper as essential communication skills for all engineers and often necessary for advancement in your career. The competition consists of a paper submission and a presentation at the student symposium. Each chapter may submit one paper, written and presented by one student.

The author of the winning paper will be awarded a tentative dollar amount from CPP ASCE and will qualify for the national award competition. The paper must be written and presented by one student to qualify for CPP ASCE's scholarship. This competition is separate from the National ASCE Mead Paper Competition and is local to the ASCE Pacific Southwest Student Symposium, requiring a separate submission for PSWS.

The topic for the 2025 ASCE PSWS Mead Paper Competition is

"Consider the Francis Scott Key Bridge Collapse in Maryland, the Interstate 95 Collapse in Pennsylvania, or other infrastructure disasters. Civil engineers are responsible for planning, designing, constructing, maintaining, and operating infrastructure while protecting and advancing the health, safety, and welfare of the public. Following large infrastructure disasters, civil engineers are often placed in the public spotlight to respond and assess the cause of the disaster and how to prevent future similar events.

Considering ethics, what role do civil engineers play in the prevention and response to an infrastructure disaster? Should an infrastructure disaster rouse civil engineers globally to advocate for more resilient protections for built infrastructure from climate-driven and/or man-made disasters?

Authors are encouraged to develop and apply their own original thoughts. The use of generative artificial intelligence (AI) and natural language processing models (NLP) such as OpenAI's ChatGPT® are neither encouraged nor discouraged. However, if such models are used, all instances shall be cited as work completed by the respective generative AI/NLP. Failure to cite all instances of generative AI/NLP use will be considered plagiarism.

Entries for the contest shall be limited to 1 paper from each ASCE or AEI Student Organization and must be submitted through the Faculty Advisor."

Submission deadline: March 1, 2025

NEW Submission form: CLICK HERE

One winner from the ASCE Pacific Southwest Student Symposium will be named the Symposium Paper Competition Champion.

NEW THIS YEAR

The winning paper from the Student Symposium Paper Competition will advance for final consideration by the ASCE Committee on Student Members with all other entries received for the Society Daniel W. Mead Prize for Students Competition. The Society Daniel W. Mead Prize for Students winner will be announced in June.

If your chapter wants to compete in the Daniel W. Mead Prize for Students Competition, there is no need for a separate submission outside of the ASCE Pacific Southwest Student Symposium. The submission to the symposium will serve as the submission for the Daniel W. Mead Prize for Students Competition as well.

SOCIETY-WIDE FINALS ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENT

Both the paper submission and the presentation are mandatory for any ASCE Student Chapter participating in the 2025 ASCE Pacific Southwest Student Symposium that wishes to be eligible to advance to ASCE Society-wide competition finals and SSBC National Finals. Competitions requiring participation include:

- ASCE Concrete Canoe Competition
- ASCE Sustainable Solutions Competition
- ASCE UESI Surveying Competition, and
- AISC/ASCE Student Steel Bridge Competition.

Please note that any papers/presentations created for any other competition do not count as an entry into the Student Symposium Paper Competition.

Richard J. Scranton Award

New this year, the Committee on Student Members will hold a pilot competition at the 2025 ASCE Pacific Southwest Student Symposium to identify finalists for the ASCE Richard J. Scranton Award for Community Service.

The Richard J. Scranton Community Service Award is awarded to the chapter that demonstrates the strongest engagement in the community with projects that provide great value to and impact on their local community while engaging a large number of chapter members. This is an exciting opportunity for Student Chapters to showcase their community service efforts!

Student teams will submit a digital copy of the poster by March 20, 2025 and bring the actual poster to the symposium. Your poster should highlight all community service and/or outreach projects during 2024. Criteria for submissions will be posted on the student symposium website. Students should expect to prepare for judges to observe, evaluate, and hold a conversation with them to ask specific questions about their projects and the impact of their efforts. Student posters, projects, and oral responses will be evaluated, considering all community service projects documented as a body of work.

Each student chapter may submit one poster. One winner will be named the Symposium Community Service Award Champion. The champion will advance for final consideration for the Scranton Award by the Committee on Student Members. Their finalist status will put them in competition with schools from other non-pilot student symposia submitting annual reports. The ASCE Richard J. Scranton Award for Community Service Winner will be announced in late May. The poster display session will take place alongside Concrete Canoe, Steel Bridge, and Sustainable Solutions displays.

The Student Chapter whose poster best embodies the spirit of the Richard J. Scranton Outstanding Community Service Award will be awarded a tentative dollar amount from Cal Poly Pomona ASCE to put toward further community service efforts. A rubric for this competition will be provided in the near future.

Submission deadline: March 20, 2025

NEW Submission form: CLICK HERE

*This competition is not a requirement for each participating student chapter to compete in the 2025 PSWS. If all student chapters attending the 2025 PSWS participate in this competition, points may be awarded to winning student chapters. Each participating student chapter is required to bring their own easel to display their poster. See tentative schedule for display times.

Any student chapters that wish to compete for the national Scranton Outstanding Community Service Award must participate in the symposia pilot competition to be eligible.

Details about student awards can be found here.

ASCE Society-Wide Eligibility Requirements
